Goals Unit Staff Headed By Bundy

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)

The appointment of attorney William P. Bundy as staff director was confirmed today by the President's Commission on National Goals.

Bundy, a former New York attorney, now lives in Washington. He is a son-in-law of former Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

The Commission, formed two weeks ago, held an organizational meeting here. It approved a budget, discussed the methods of its operations and set a time schedule for various work phases.

A spokesman said that in view of the fact the President specifically instructed the Commission to avoid all political connection, it was decided to issue no public statements until after the election.
